Alicja Kwade's diverse artistic practice prompts viewers to reconsider their perception of the world around them. In her work, the definition of an object is subject to the viewer's interpretation, influenced by societal constructs, language, and function. As such, Kwade challenges the existence of fundamental truths and explores imaginative possibilities beyond conventional boundaries.

Xia Yu was born in Anhui, China, in 1981, graduated from the Third Studio of the Oil Painting Department at the Central Academy of Fine Arts in 2004, and currently lives and works in Beijing. An artist of the post-80s generation, the personal life trajectory of Xia Yu and his generation inevitably finds a parallel reference in his paintings. In the various scenes set up by Xia Yu, whether everyday or dramatic, these figures often manifest either elegant or witty physique, disclosing both of their ease and haste. These already subtle and imperceptible emotions are further softened and diluted by the artist's signature tempera technique, converging the similar faces into a portrait of the majority that belongs to an era of China's most rapid development.

Sophie von Hellermann's paintings recall the look of fables, legends, and traditional stories that are imbued with the workings of her subconscious rather than the content of existing images. Her romantic, pastel-washed canvases are often installed to suggest complex narrative threads. Von Hellermann applies pure pigment directly onto unprimed canvas, and her use of broad-brushed washes imbues a sense of weightlessness to her pictures. Von Hellermann's paintings draw upon current affairs as often and as fluidly as they borrow from the imagery of classical mythology and literature to create expansive imaginary places. In subject matter and style, von Hellermann tests imagination against reality.

Danny Casale (aka Coolman Coffeedan) is an artist who gained popularity through his surreal, humorous and crudely-drawn animations.

Danny's online content presence spans back to 2007 when he first discovered Youtube at 12 years old. The self-titled "Bad Animator" first went viral in June of 2017 when his cartoon titled "Snakes Have Legs" accumulated tens of millions of views.

Following the massive success of this video, Danny continued creating animations in his unique style, which have gone on to reach hundreds of millions more around the world... making them laugh, cry, and think.

In a social media world with so much negativity, Danny realized his goal of brightening up people's timelines.

Robert Nava

2 Chomps, 2023

To develop his uncompromisingly personal style, Nava first dispensed with the rules and conventional attitudes that he had learned while obtaining his MFA at Yale University—an attitude that aligns him with the irreverent “bad” painting first theorized in 1978 by the New Museum’s founding curator Marcia Tucker.

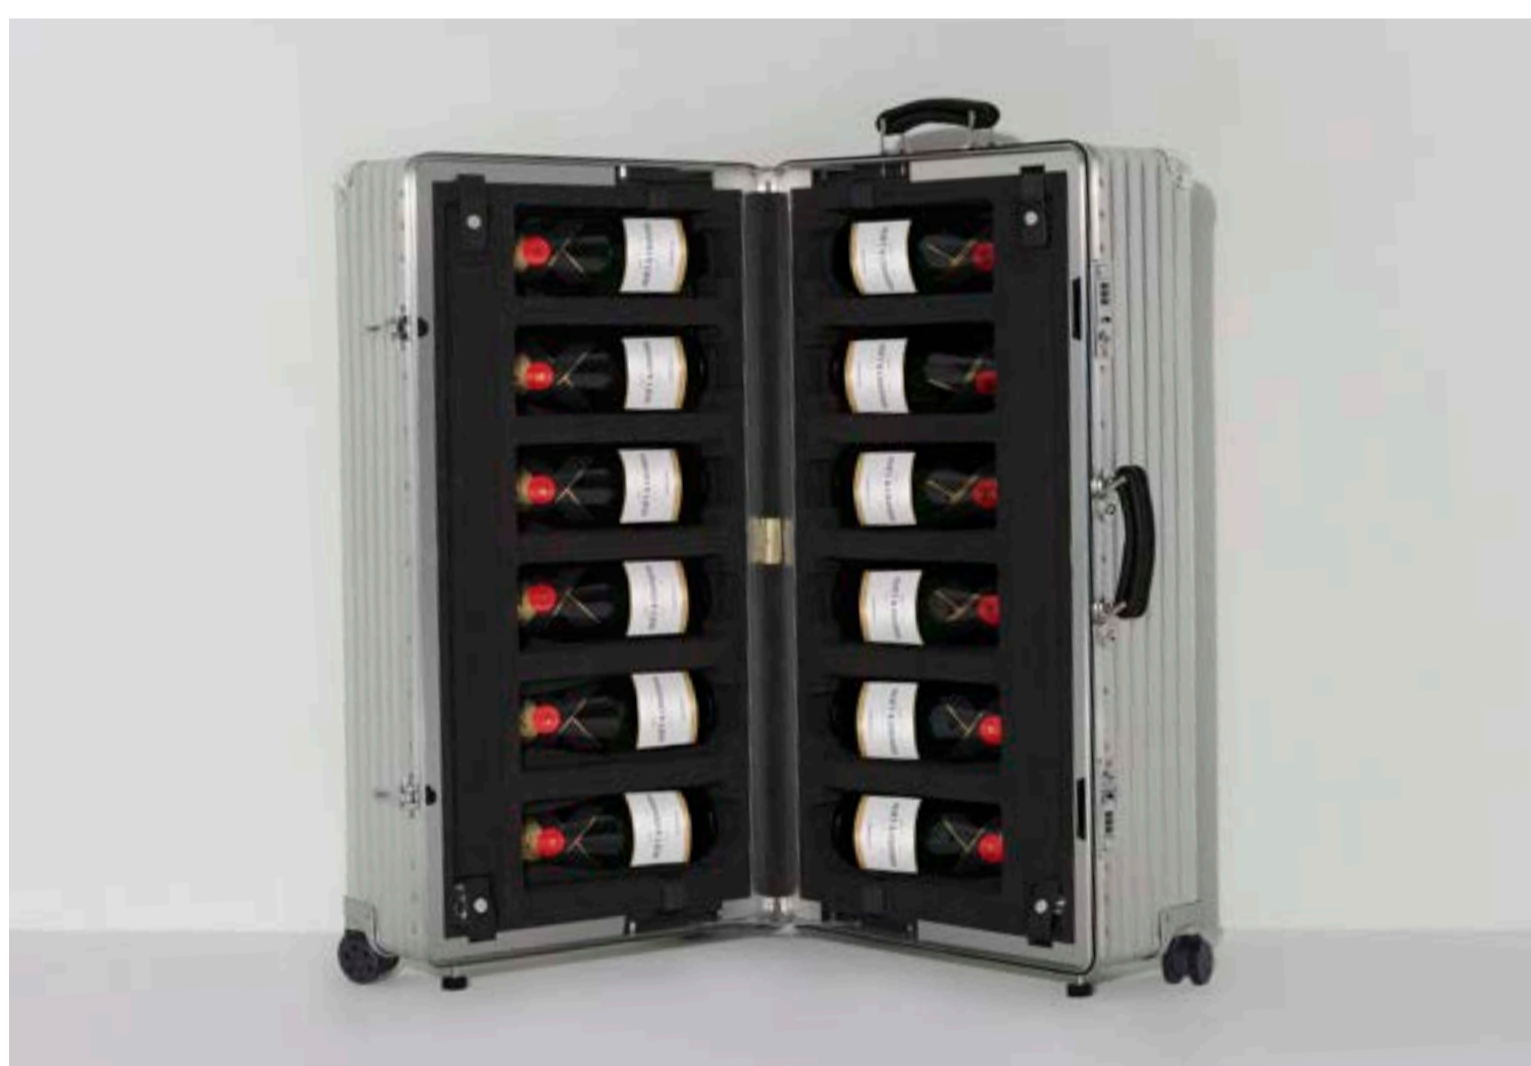

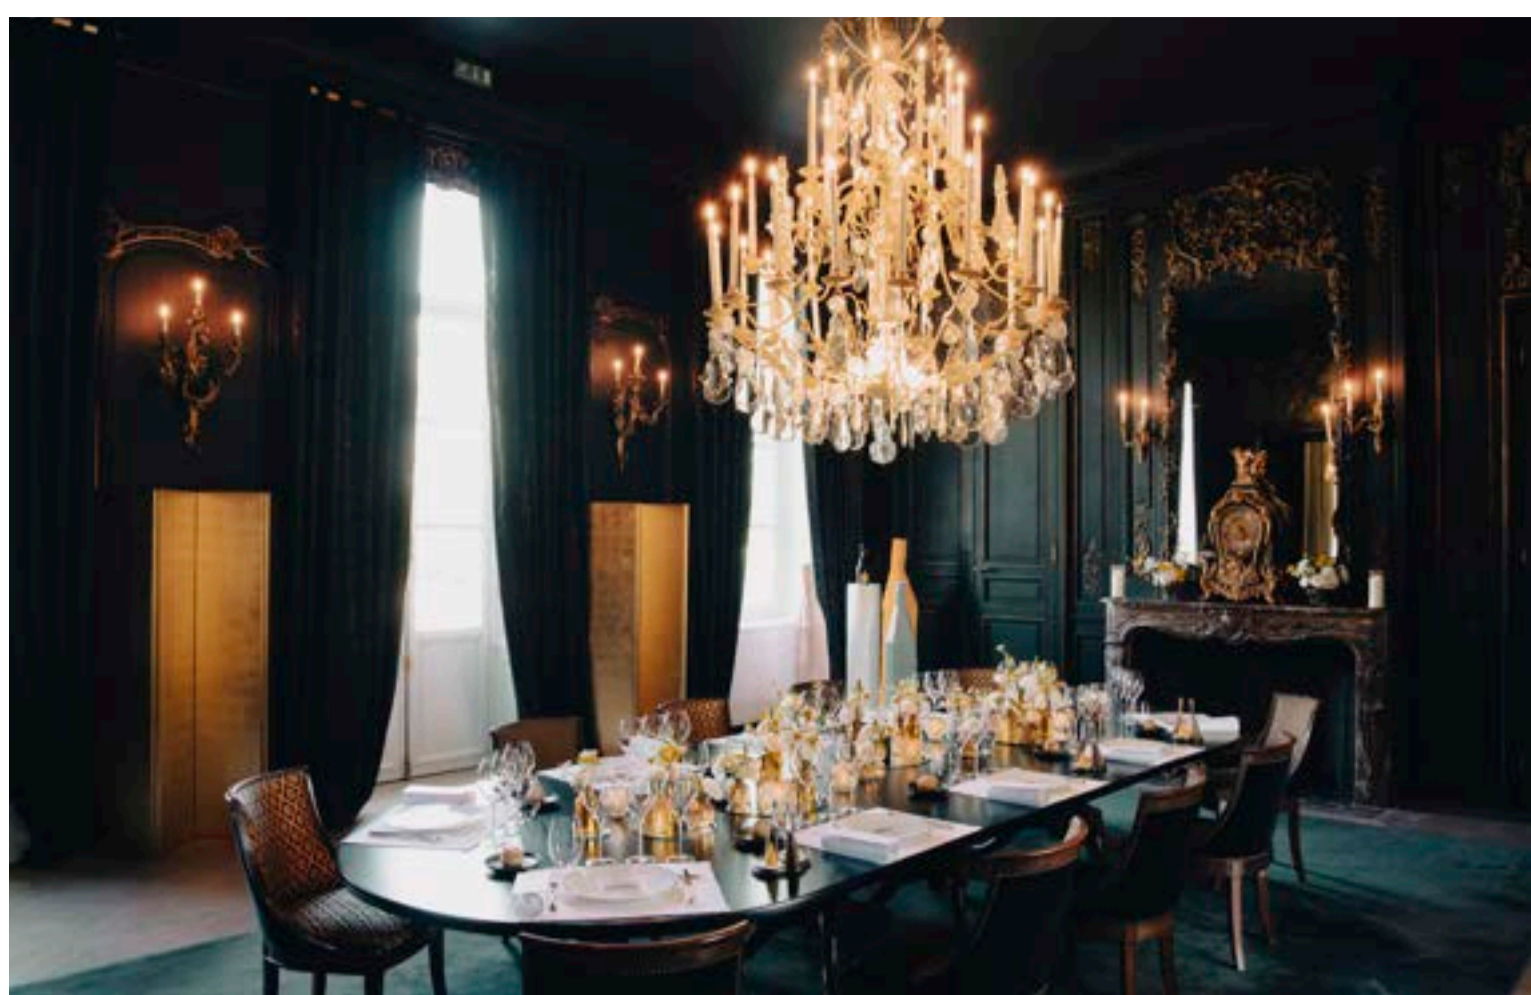

Nava’s work can be found in the collection of Musée d’Art Moderne, Paris, France; Art Institute of Chicago, Illinois; Institute of Contemporary Art, Miami, Florida; Museum of Contemporary Art San Diego, California; The Museum of Fine Arts, Houston, Texas; The Columbus Museum of Art, Columbus, Ohio; Orange County Museum of Art, Santa Ana, CA, and Zuzeum Art Center, Riga, Latvia.

Currently lives in Beijing, he has taught at the School of Experiment Art at the Central Academy of Fine Arts since 2008. WANG Yuyang creates works using emergent media but does not deliberately emphasize the novelty of technology. He is more interested in the artistry brought about by “outdated” technology, “destructive” aesthetics and material waste. His work has employed all possible media. He often uses humour, fiction and spectacles to explore and reflect upon the relationship between the human body, experience and cognition. At the same time he also investigates the relationship between artificial reality, media technology and historical perception.

Phantom Butterfly

The Phantom Butterfly collection is born from contemplation sparked by the moment a butterfly gathers its strength to flutter its wings. With the graceful and agile posture of a butterfly, it outlines fantasies of the growth of all things in nature. It also symbolizes an artistic attitude of free exploration.

The artwork draws its life force from a dazzling sapphire, capturing the vivid and graceful beauty of butterfly wings. The curved surfaces are adorned with layers of gradually shifting blue sapphires, conveying the energy of natural life and the resolute belief in growth. It's as if it's a vibrant and lively butterfly, dancing freely in the unknown, and a sincere tribute to the spirit of freedom.

- 1.1. These Terms and Conditions (the “Terms”) contain all terms and conditions in respect of any contract made between The WEMP Foundation (“WEMP”), which is the host of The Children Ball Auction (the “Auction”) either on its own and/or together with the donor of the lots for auction sale (the “Donor”), and you as a potential purchaser (the “Purchaser”).
- 1.2. By the Donor submitting any lot for sale, and by the Purchaser placing a bid or offering to purchase any lots at the Auction, the Donor and the Purchaser respectively agree to be bound by these Terms.

2. Eligibility

- 2.1. In order to be eligible to place a bid in the Auctions, the Purchaser must be over the age of 18.
- 2.2. Entry to the Auction is entirely at the discretion of WEMP whose decision on this matter is final. WEMP has the right to refuse admission to any person, or to refuse participation in the Auction, or to reject any bid for any Property.

Such statements do not constitute any representation, warranty or any assumption of liability by WEMP (including its officers, agents and employees) of any kind. The Purchaser acknowledges that he/she has viewed and inspected the Property and relies on his/her own judgment.
- 3.4. The Purchaser must make his own evaluation of the price of the Property independently, and without any reliance on any statement or estimation of the Donor or WEMP. The lot descriptions may include estimates that are based upon prices recently transacted at other auctions for comparable property by reference to such factors as condition, rarity, quality and provenance (history of previous ownership). The sale record maintained by WEMP is conclusive should any dispute arise.
 - 4.3.5. Subject to the decision of the auctioneer, the highest bidder for a Property will be the successful Purchaser for that Property, and a striking of the hammer marks acceptance of the highest bid and the conclusion of a binding contract for sale between WEMP and the successful Purchaser.
 - 4.3.6. Immediately after the auctioneer has hit the hammer to conclude a sale, the successful Purchaser must provide WEMP with his name, telephone number and email address and payment details upon request.
- 4.4. WEMP disclaims all liability in relation to any failure to contact a successful Purchaser due to mistakes or inaccurate contact information provided. In the event WEMP is unable to contact a successful Purchaser or the successful Purchaser fails to effect payment before the designated payment deadline, the Property shall be sold to the Purchaser who made the next highest bid.
